

“The artist is an instrument of a sophisticated linguistic expression and brings in his works of art a message that only our individual souls can read. Every artist expresses their own sophisticated message in their art. It is our responsibility as a gallery to convey this message and give access to buyers who wish to have them in their lives. It seems that the mission of our Gallery is to make this cycle viable and we want everyone to have access to this artistic experience.” Robert L. Parcus
